

Crème brûlée, jalapeño, façade, naïve, coöperate, Ångström, Ærø, Þórr, Øresund, Škoda, Łódź, İstanbul, Zürich — an em dash; 1990–1995 an en dash; “curly double quotes”, ‘curly single quotes’, «guillemets», and ‚German low quotes‘. Señor Müller’s résumé lists São Paulo, Kraków, Reykjavík, Malmö and Bordeaux; the café’s menu offers crêpes, soufflé and a pâté that costs €12 — or £10, ¥1500 — per serving, ½ portion available. Sæglópur, mañana, Ñandú, çedilla, ÿ, ø, å, æ, Œuvre, Œdipe, ß, and Dž close the line.